HANCOCK COUNTY EAGLE

VOLUME TWO, NUMBER 11 BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1950 SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $2.00 PER YEAR

Miss Irma Joan Lee Queen Of Bay High Homecoming

The Bay High School Homecoming was celebrated last Saturday night beginning with a parade and a football game between Bay High and Lumberton, with Bay High winning, 21-20, and a dance following the game.

The long parade began at the school gymnasium, down Carroll Avenue to the beachhead to Main, out to the stadium on Nevada.

At the football field, the prep squad marched onto the field and formed a heart. The Queen and her maids were escorted into the heart and the Queen was crowned there. Then the letter "B" was formed and inside the "B" three little girls did a tumbling act, with the school band playing during the formation. The little girls were Beverly Jane Miller, Gayle Banderet and Petie Kay Miller.

The Homecoming Queen was Miss Irma Joan Lee and her maids were the Misses Cecil McCaleb, Helen Ruth Moran, Shirley Davis and Betty Culpepper. Miss Lee wore a mouse grey, tailored suit with red accessories and carried a bouquet of red carnations. Miss McCaleb wore a suit of green wool with brown accessories. All carried old fashioned round bouquets of blue bachelor button surrounding a yellow chrysanthemum, carrying out the school colors, blue and gold. They all wore a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

The escorts were Billy Clapp, captain for the night, Bobby Clapp, Billie Ray Bennett, Monvel Meskew and Truman Schultz.

The school gymnasium, where the dance took place, was beautifully decorated in the school colors of blue and gold. Gold stars hung from a blue ceiling and a half moon was suspended in the middle of the room. The lights were dimmed with blue paper dotted with gold stars.

Four Announce For Lieutenant Governor Race

Jackson State Rep. Hayden Campbell of Jackson plans to make "no political promises" in running for lieutenant governor next year.

Campbell, 45, editor of the Conservative News, became the fourth to announce for the post recently. The other three are Mayor James Arrington of Collins, State Sen. J. O. Clark of Iuka and Mayor Carroll Gartin of Laurel.

"I will not be a candidate for reelection to the house of representatives since it is my intention to make the race for lieutenant governor in the Democratic primaries next summer," Campbell said. "I shall have no political promise to make."

Campbell was co-author of a bill under which the legislature appropriated $400,000,000 for a state four-year medical school and teaching hospital. The state mental hospital at Whitfield made several staff changes following his one-man investigation of the institution.

A native of Kentucky, Campbell attended schools at Natchez and Biloxi. He is the son of Durth Campbell, long-time managing editor of the Clarksdale Register. He has two children, Bland, the Hattiesburg American, and Beverly, a member of the advertising staff of student at Southern Methodist University.

Gulf Coast Art Ass'n Met at Hotel Reed Last Friday Night; Mrs. Horace Russ Leads Discussion On Art

A meeting of the Gulf Coast Art Association took place in an intimate gathering last Friday night at Hotel Reed, with Miss Josephine Alphonso, president, presiding. Each guest was asked to introduce himself and then Mr. Horace Russ, of Lakeshore, led the discussion. Mr. Russ was one of the three originators of the Art League, in New Orleans, an association for men only and on being questioned, among other things, he thought it wise to combine Art and Artcraft in the same exhibit, but unwise to have junior members exhibit with senior members. He spoke on Art from the viewpoint of the Conservative, the Modern and the Modernistic.

At the end of the discussion, Mrs. Horace Russ and Mrs. Gladys Bartlett Jones presided over a silver coffee service at each end of the table, which was placed in the sun room for the centerpiece, the table held a beautiful arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums and green foliage.

Those attending from Bay St. Louis were Mrs. Jason Floyd, Mrs. A. P. Smith, Miss Mae Edwards, Mrs. Briscoe Goldman, Mrs. Gladys Bartlett Jones, a pioneer in rousing interest in art in Bay St. Louis, Miss Fanny Marquez, Mrs. H. A. Oxenham, Miss Lee Engman, Mrs. Frank Reindl, Mrs. Gertrude Foley Saucier and Mrs. S. T. Assenheimer.

From Gulfport were Miss Curtis Crane, Mrs. Elizabeth Stegler, Mrs. Elsie Emot, Miss Josephine Alphonso, Mrs. R. Gordon Smith, Mrs. H. D. Shaw, Mrs. Marie Hake, Mrs. Joyce Cassibry and from Pass Christian were Mrs. Margaret Stern, who was formerly associated with the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York; Mrs. Ralph Whitman; from Hattiesburg, Mrs. J. C. McNair, from Clermont, Mrs. Ola Moran and O. V. Moran; from Lakeshore, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Russ, Salla Ward, Mrs. Douglas E. Post; from Waterbury, Conn., Mrs. Joseph R. Bender, Miss Mary Ethel Dismukes, Biloxi, president of the Magnolia Art Association and vice-president in Biloxi of the Gulf Coast Association; and Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Kronengold, of Waveland, well known artists who are planning to have classes in Bay St. Louis and in Gulfport, and several others.

OFFICIAL FIGURES IN STATE GENERAL ELECTION SHOWN

Jackson—Secretary of State Heber Ladner said 87,882 of the approximate 400,000 qualified Mississippi voters cast ballots for the Democratic congressional delegation at the Nov. 7 general election.

Ladner released the figures recently after his office had completed the official tabulation of returns.

In addition to the congressional posts, Mississippians voted on three proposed state constitutional amendments. They were:

1. Allowing ministers' wives to vote after six months residence in a district. Approved 66,077 to 14,363.
2. Increasing the number of supreme court justices from six to nine. Approved 47,087 to 28,617.
3. Allowing the state auditor to succeed himself in office. Defeated 41,585 to 35,154.

Ladner reported the following tabulations on the congressional races:

First district—Rep. John Rankin (D) 8,994; Glenn Haynes (R) 730; second district—Frank Smith (D) 6,529; Nelson Taylor (R) 529; fourth district—Rep. Thomas Abernethy (D) 12,602; Dr. G. O. Deaton (R) 552; fifth district—Rep. W. A. Winstead (D) 13,395; J. Clay Ervin (R) 336; sixth district—Rep. W. M. Colmer (D) 15,964; Frank Harper (Ind) 2,199; seventh district—Rep. John Bell Williams (D) 19,321; James A. White (R) 714.

FINANCE DRIVE OF THE PLWW MEETING WITH GRATIFYING SUCCESS

Miss Elsa Mauffrey, vice-chairman of the finance drive for the Provisional League of Women Voters of Bay St. Louis, reports that her campaign is meeting gratifying response. One of the requirements of the national league is that each local league augment its treasury with contributions from interested citizens. This does not mean an over-all soliciting for funds; only a few civic-minded people will be approached year in this way, it will not be onerous for anyone to contribute to the league budget. It is hoped that the league will continue with its publications, and that is one of the purposes for which it is necessary to have funds.

The two study groups met on Thursday and Friday of last week. On Thursday, the unit devoted to the study of the National Budget and the fight against inflation, met at the home of Mrs. Ernest C. Samuel, Mrs. John McDonald and Mrs. John Bell. They are co-chairmen of this group, and anyone who is interested in attending the next meeting may call either Mrs. McDonald or Mrs. Bell.

The second group, which is studying the UN under the leadership of Mrs. John Hubbard, met on Friday at the home of Mrs. Joe Schaff, Mrs. Schaff gave an interesting and informative talk on the inception of the UN and read its charter. Mrs. C. C. McDonald answered the many eager questions put to her by the group. Those in attendance included Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. M. Kohler, Mrs. Schaff, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. L. Oxenham, Mrs. E. Yates, Mrs. P. Miller, Mrs. E. Samuel, Mrs. F. Reindl and Mrs. Stillwell. Anyone who is interested in attending the UN study sessions is asked to call Mrs. Hubbard at 242-R.

YACHT CLUB AUXILIARY COOK BOOK TO BE PUBLISHED

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Bay Waveland Yacht Club will publish a cook book entitled "My Favorite Recipes"; to be ready about the middle of December. ## R. N. JONES ADDRESSES ROTARY CLUB WED.

The regular weekly luncheon of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club was held Wednesday at noon at the Reed Hotel. Visiting Rotarians were C. E. Holcomb, Gulfport; Leo Seal, Gulfport; M. A. Roper, Piquette; James Papworth, New Orleans, and Dr. Emmett Irwin, New Orleans, who had as his guests Mr. Joe Martin and Miss Dorothy Campbell both of New Orleans.

Speaker on the program was Rotarian R. N. Jones of Pass Christian who spoke on Club Service, explaining the functions and duties of the club service committee, men in regard to attendance, classification, and the direction of other Rotary Club matters.

A very large attendance at the luncheon was reported.

Veterans in On-The-Farm Training Program Making Excellent Farming Records In This County

It has been called to our attention that many of the veterans taking on-the-farm training in Hancock County are making excellent records in corn production and are to be commended for their splendid work.

Below are listed some records of men taking the Veterans on-the-farm training program in Hancock County.

David Baker produced 96 bushels on his best acre and averaged 80 bushels on five acres.

Edis Lee averaged 65 bushels on six acres. Eugene Moran averaged 70 bushels on five acres. Rufus Moran averaged 85 bushels on five acres. Reudus Moran averaged 80 bushels on eight acres.

Herbert Lee, a farmer trainee, who finished his veterans training last year averaged 95 bushels on 3 1/4 acres this year.

These are splendid records and are encouraging to future farmers in Hancock County.

Mother of Former Resident Dies in New Orleans

Mrs. Celina Doize Seghers died in New Orleans early Saturday morning after a long, lingering illness. She was the mother of Mr. James Seghers, a resident of Bay St. Louis for several years and who with his family, moved to New Orleans last August.

Mrs. Seghers was 82 years old and one of her sisters is Mother Pamela Doize of the Madamans of the Sacred Heart; also a daughter, Sister Celina, is a member of the Daughters of Charity of Chicago, Ill. She is survived also by other children, C. E. Seghers, Jr., of New York, Boyd, Maurice, and James Seghers of New Orleans, Mrs. John B. Klempner, Mrs. Birtles Langenhennig and Mrs. Joseph Albert; by three other sisters, Mrs. C. A. Seghers, Mrs. E. P. Fournier and Mrs. T. R. Druhan, and by a brother, Edouard Doize. One brother, Cyril Doize, of Dallas, Texas, is deceased. She is survived by 22 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the funeral home of Jacob Shoen and Son in New Orleans, with religious services at St. Leo the Great Church and interment in the St. Vincent cemetery No. 1, on Sonnet Street.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF N. O. AREA BOY SCOUTS

The annual banquet of the New Orleans Area of Boy Scouts was held in the Grand Ball Room at Hotel Roosevelt on Thursday night, November 16, at which time merited honors are awarded. Mr. L. S. Elliott, of Bay St. Louis, was presented a Scout pin in recognition of his fifteen years with the Boy Scouts. The program consisted of singing the Star Spangled Banner, the Pledge of Allegiance, the Invocation by Rev. Armand Kerlec, Scout Chaplain of the Archdiocese of New Orleans and the introduction of guests by president R. E. Elliott. Mr. Elliott introduced the program chairman, Mr. Jay Weil, who in turn introduced Mr. Harley E. Erb, Regional Executive, who presented the new officers.

Mr. Harry Maxwell, Scout Executive, gave a review of 1950 highlights and recommendations of achievements. This was portrayed by Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts in pantomime.

The closing ceremony was by the Rev. H. F. J. Rest, president of the New Orleans Ministerial Union.

Throughout the program there was organ music by Charles R. Young, Jr. Attending from the Bay-Pass District were Monsignor A. J. Gmelch, Rev. Michael Grant, Col. Dayton Robinson, Col. and Mrs. Roy N. Hagerty, Floyd Brinnard and Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Elliott.

GOOD NEIGHBOR CLUB HAS INTERESTING MEETING

A barbecue in the yard of Mrs. John Rau on Dunbar Avenue was the highlight of the meeting of the Good Neighbor Club of Cedar Point on Wednesday night.

Mrs. James Christy, Miss Myrtle Christy, Mrs. Frank Martin and Mrs. D. Rando were hostesses, with Mrs. Rau to the club.

After a barbecue supper of wieners, potato salad, with the usual accompaniments, and hot chocolate, the guests toasted marshmallows over the open fire.

This was followed by a bingo game for which prizes such as homemade cakes and preserves were donated by members of the club. Proceeds of the bingo game are put into the pig to defray the expenses of the monthly meetings.

The next party, which will be the Good Neighbor Christmas party will be held at the home of Mrs. Emil Harv on Julia Street on the second Wednesday in December.

Thirty-two members of the club attended the party at Mrs. Rau's Wednesday night.

ELMER DAVIS SET FOR JACKSON TALK

Jackson, Miss.—Mississippi editors will be special guest in Jackson Saturday night for the special appearance of Elmer Davis, noted radio news commentator.

Davis' appearance on a town meeting program is sponsored by the World War II memorial post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Erskine Wells, commander of the VFW post, said that Davis is making an airplane trip from Washington for the program and will return to the nation's capital after the program.

He will be introduced at the meeting by Major Frederick Sullens, editor of the Jackson Daily News. Another Mississippi editor to be named, will serve as moderator of the question and answer portion of the program.

Davis served as director of the office of war information during World War II and is winner of four awards for outstanding work in the field of journalism. He received the Peabody award as a news commentator in 1940 and in 1949; the Sigma Delta Chi award in 1948; the National Editors Club Award in 1950 and the DuPont Commentators award in 1947.

The town meeting type program will be held in the Jackson City auditorium, Commander Wells said.

THANKSGIVING!

Now let us thank the Eternal Power;
Convinced that Heaven but tries our virtue by affliction, —
That off the cloud which wraps the present hour
Serves but to brighten all our future days.

—John Brown, 1716-1766

Abraham Lincoln, who spoke four score and seven years ago last week at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, was the first President to fix Thanksgiving Day by proclamation. He did so in the midst of a great struggle that was to determine that a nation could not endure half slave and half free. Today, with all human society taking sides in such a struggle, let us with Lincoln thank God that we are privileged in our time to help free mankind; let us with Lincoln "have faith that right makes might; and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it."

In the early days the Pilgrims had to protect their "freedom of religion"—as indeed their freedom to live—with firearms. Today this is not the case. Father may oil up his shotgun when the ducks begin to fly, but he doesn't carry it to church anymore. Neither does any king or civil governor prescribe the shape of our churches, the length of our sermons or the form of our prayers. We are free to worship when and as we please, and this right is one of our most cherished, if occasionally least appreciated, freedoms. This free exercise of faith is its own best weapon against the sugar-coated doctrines of the Communist world.

America without Thanksgiving is like America without its brilliant, colorful autumn or the first white touches of snow that lies like a benediction on its rich fields. America without Thanksgiving is like America without its deep awareness of hearth and home and family, its laughter and love. Thanksgiving is the most meaningful of our truly American holidays. Let us preserve it always.

THE BEST KIND OF ADVERTISING

Our Chamber of Commerce and other civic clubs are always promoting schemes to advertise this section and our town, and advocating courteous treatment to visitors in order to encourage their return here. There is no doubt that advertising pays off in the long run, but our treatment of visitors is our biggest and best way of creating good will, as is so clearly shown in the letter we publish below.

We congratulate our Constable Gerald Price on his treatment of strangers who pass through our town. Many times he gives not only his time but the use of his car and even money when necessary to insure their comfort while here. These acts of kindness and consideration on the part of public officials are what makes your community known. The letter follows:

c/o Secretary

Dear Sir:

On the 13th of this month I passed with my family of three through your community on our way to California. While trying to enter the motel "Pilot Wheel," we were struck by an onrushing auto and I was taken to the hospital with the rest of my family accompanying me. Efficient help was given us immediately, thanks to Mr. Price, your more than kind constable who did not leave us until he saw us safe in our motel which included transportation, calling of ambulance, comforting, etc. For this unusual kindness we wish very much you would kindly express to him our sincerest thanks and appreciation. Nor can we cancel our feelings that having such an official in your town is a great deal due to the Chamber of Commerce and therefore our thanks go to you as well. Hoping that some day we may have the pleasure of having you as our guests in California, I am

Yours respectfully,

TO BE REPLACED AFTER 25 YEARS

Construction on the new bridge over Hickory Creek up in beat Four on the County Road Crossing road will begin in the next few days. Pictured which has been in use for the last twenty-five years. Mr. Jack Lott, Supervisor of beat Four under whose supervision the new bridge is being constructed, states that the new bridge will be built entirely of creosoted timbers. In other words, built to last another twenty-five years.

Mr. Lott informed us that the cost of the new bridge will be borne entirely by regular maintenance funds which is appropriated for construction of this nature. It is evident that Mr. Lott has given considerable thought and time to this project and gives every evidence of being highly gratified that the actual construction is now under way.

SOUTHERN BELL RURAL SERVICE SHOWS BIG GAIN

Jackson, Miss. Telephone bells are beginning to ring in all rural sections of Mississippi. The new installations are of the modern dial system and not old crank-type telephones.

Expansion of service in the rural areas, however, is not entirely a recent program of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company. It has been moving in these areas as fast as possible following World War II.

In proof of that is a comparison of what was offered up to 1945 and available as of last October.

At the end of 1945, Southern Bell was furnishing service to 8,435 rural customers in Mississippi. By the end of October the number had increased to 32,405, an increase of 24,070 rural connections for a gain of 289 per cent.

By the end of 1950, Southern Bell will have added 7,000 rural stations. It is taking money in the seven-figure group to expand into the rural areas, not to take into consideration that needed for urban developments. Through 1950, the company will have spent $7,500,000 for rural lines, of which $2,000,000 is being spent in the current year.

During 1951, with the rural program accelerated, Southern Bell will add 7,500 stations at a cost ranging from $2,000 to $2,500,000.

Attention is centered on rural service by Southern Bell because it is keeping with Mississippi's progress and development in agriculture and the attendant, increased income of farmers. Demands for rural service are highest in history and the company is moving rapidly to meet them all.

Major problem, other than need for additional funds through investments by those desirous to place their money in properties guaranteeing them a "fair" return, involved in serving telephone subscribers on the farms is the matter of distance—distance between subscribers and the central offices. Another factor is the ability to secure new facilities, new buildings and to enlarge present ones for the expanding service. Officials of Southern Bell explained that funds for these new facilities are not provided by the monthly receipts from customers. "Such monthly receipts pay wages, taxes, depreciation and other day-to-day expenses," they said. "Funds for additional facilities, such as expansion into rural areas, must be raised through earnings that are sufficient to persuade those with savings to put their funds into the telephone business."

At present, more than 100 rural projects are in progress. A large number of these projects will be served from existing exchanges by addition of pole lines and wire, while others will be served by dial switching units installed at some center location in a community to serve the rural customers in the community and the surrounding areas.

Four of the dial switching units have been placed in service to date. They are located at Union Church in Jefferson County; Sturgis in Oktibbeha County; Handle in southeast Winston County; and Vancleave in Jackson County.

Work in underway to provide similar dial switching units for Estessmin, Sallom, Hays, Damascus, Fresnoy, Tuscola, Good Hope, Figtown, Lena, Walnut Grove, Edinburg, Free Trade, Stand-nut Pine, St. Ann, Ludlow, Madden, Bertie and Rosebud in Leake County; Weir in Choctaw County; Schlatter, Minter City, Money, Phillip, Shellmond and Highland in northwest Leflore County; Slige in Panola County; Brooksville in Noxubee County; Wren in Monroe County; Hurley in Jackson County; and Benton in Yazoo County.

Plans are being studied covering installation of several other dial switching units in Mississippi which not only provide service for the people in their immediate location, but for a wide area by lines radiating from them.

In its rural expansion program, Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company has a number of joint-use agreements with Rural Electric associations, and a full agreement with the Mississippi Power and Light Company for use of their poles to string these lines. In addition to the service provided by Southern Bell, there are 46 independent or local telephone companies serving various areas in Mississippi.

Beware of anything that anybody tells you is a "perfect setup."

Sending a bill and collecting the money are seldom synchronized.

Sidewalk Soliloquies...

—by—
The Beachcomber

A lot has been said and is still being said every Thanksgiving day about the things we all have to be thankful for—after taking a look around and at the world in general we feel that no matter what we have said or may say—it is and will be an understatement—we are still able to go where we wish on this Thanksgiving day—without passports from one state into another—no questions about what we are going to do when we get there—when we are going to return, etc.—I suppose one has to really experience a state of that description before we can appreciate the kind of country we are living in here—the food on the table—our loved ones with us—the right to worship God in the way of our choosing—the freedom of travel—the freedom of speech—the right to as good an education as we can afford—and the right to choose the type of education we desire. Do we really appreciate these things as much as we say we should—as much, say, as some other citizens of other countries would—if they were given the same opportunity—When we give thanks this Thanksgiving Day—let us hesitate and really think of what we are saying—let's look deep inside our hearts—and when we offer thanks to God who makes all these things possible—let's mean every last word of our thanks to Him—Amen.

"STELLA" AT THE STAR SUN. & MON., NOV. 26-27

Ann Sheridan and Victor Mature top the cast of "Stella" Twentieth Century-Fox's new comedy romance arriving Sunday at the Star Theater. Miss Sheridan fills the title part, and unquestionably fills it beautifully, of Stella, who gets involved in an insurance policy covering her accidentally killed Uncle Joe. The casting of the policy becomes complicated by her zany family's haste in covering up the circumstances of Uncle Joe's death. Ann, or Stella, also gets involved, romantically involved that is, with the handsome young insurance adjuster who comes to town to look into the peculiar case of Uncle Joe. That would be Mature's role.

With this fresh and funny premise, and the talented writer-director Claude Binyon to carry it out, "Stella" looms as a major attack on the funnybone in the offbeat tradition of "Arsenic and Old Lace" and other farces that have parlayed laughs and chills to exciting, comic effect.

Supporting cast members in "Stella" include David Wayne, whose rapid rise to screen stardom in "Adam's Rib" follows on his New York stage triumphs as the leprechaun in "Finian's Rainbow" and Ensign Pulver in "Mister Roberts"; lovely starlets Randy Scott and Marion Marshall, making quick strides on the Twentieth Century-Fox lot; and vaudeville knockabout comic Frank Fontaine, staging his much heralded movie bow in this. Other players in "Stella" include Leaf Erickson, Evelyn Varden, remembered for her sterling work in "Pinky" and "When Willie Comes Marching Home" as well as on Broadway in "Dream Girl," Lea Penman from the Broadway cast of "Annie Get Your Gun," beauteous Joyce MacKenzie of "Twelve O'Clock High" fame and the late, beloved comedian, Hobart Cavanaugh, here making his last screen appearance.

For Ann Sheridan, "Stella" serves as a happy returning vehicle after some period off the screen, and for Victor Mature the film is a change-of-pace return to modern dress after the period films "Samson and Delilah" and "Wash Avenue." At the top of their popularity now, the stars have added support in the fast-rising young comedian and musical comedy entertainer of recent Broadway years, and vaudevillean Fontaine, whose act has proven irresistibly funny to audiences for years. Binyon directed "Stella" and wrote its screen play from a novel by Doris Miles Disney. Long famed as a writer-director of top comedy pictures, veteran producer Sol C. Siegel handled the reins for Twentieth Century-Fox in the production of "Stella."

Selfish individuals contribute very little toward a better world.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By James L. Bishop,
Soil Conservation Service

H. C. Voorhes, a farmer in Cuevas town community, recently completed a meadow outlet on his farm.

Voorhes has a farm plan with the Hancock County Soil Conservation District. Soil Conservation Service technicians assisted the farmer, surveying the drainage ditch and furnishing technical information concerning seedbed preparation, mineralization and kind of seeds to plant in the meadow outlet.

In March, Voorhes constructed 1000 feet of drainage ditch which was necessary to drain the wet land. Later the stumps and small trees were pushed and the area cleaned for plowing. After the land was plowed and disced several times, minerals were applied in October and worked into the soil. Last week Voorhes completed the meadow outlet by seeding the area with Kentucky 31 Fescue and a mixture of Ladino and white Dutch clover.

People who get tired easily seldom accomplish much worthwhile work.

Horace Nicaise, overseer on the Voorhes farm, worked long hours to make the meadow outlet look like the above photo. Nicaise added, "I didn't think we would be able to plant and grow pasture in this wet place, why, I thought this area wasn't good for anything. It helped to make the place look better and provide winter grazing for my dairy cows."

LUNCHEON-CANASTA

Mrs. Howard Burleigh entertained on last Friday at a luncheon and Canasta party at her home in Clermont Harbor.

A delicious seafood luncheon preceded the game and later in the afternoon coffee and pastry were served. Mrs. Burleigh was assisted by Mrs. J. William Hill, Jr.

The guests included Mrs. Clarence Becker, Mrs. Horace Russ and Mrs. Ruth Miller of Lakeside; Mrs. Hugh Edgerton and Mrs. A. G. Dantagnan of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. J. A. Orr, Mrs. J. P. Rousseau and Mrs. J. Richardson of Clermont Harbor.

25 PER CENT CUT IN PASSENGER CAR OUTPUT PREDICTED

Detroit. Twenty-five per cent cut in passenger car production "soon after the first of the year" is predicted by Automotive News.

This will follow restrictions on the civilian use of copper, zinc and other non-ferrous metals, the trade paper said. It added that "truck assembly should continue in relatively high volume, but much of it will come at the expense of car output."

Continuing the paper says, "Vehicle manufacturers don't think they will be able to overcome the situation that will prevail on copper, zinc and other metals by substitution. One auto official points out, 'The substitutes will be just as short supply, too.'"

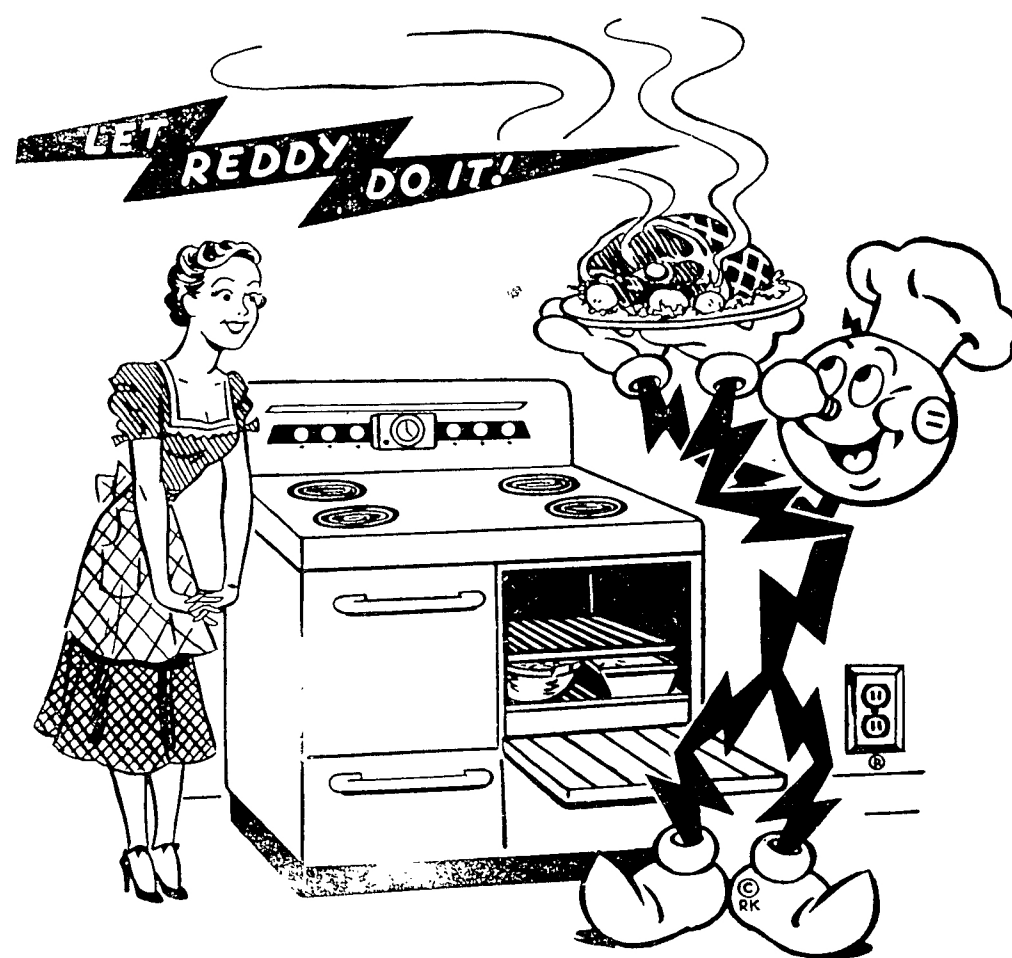

During the 12 months prior to June 30, 1950, United States plants produced about 5,820,000 passenger cars. A 25 percent cut from that total would still leave a 1951 potential of 4,365,000 cars or more than have ever been built in any previous year except 1949 and 1950.

But auto industry officials don't believe that any figure based on the possible impact of restrictions on the use of non-ferrous metals can tell the whole story of what lies ahead. With the elections having cleared the way, auto and other industry people expect a chain of throttling orders in immediate weeks from United States defense agencies.

Trifles &amp; Treasures

-by-
PEGGY FOOTE

Back from my few days of luxury at Point Clear I don't know whether it is good for me or not to have such a vacation. Of course, I love it but I return quite disgruntled and unwilling to go back into harness.

Grand Hotel is a private outfit. One goes by invitation or by recommendation. It is owned and operated by a huge steamship company and offers every thing in the way of comfort, luxury and amusement. The service is superb and almost magic. It is situated on a peninsula with the surf of Mobile Bay playing on two sides. The grounds are beautiful with century-old oaks draped with Spanish moss. Its exterior is situated in a soft moss which adds a restful atmosphere free from glare. The hotel is rambling with giant picture windows and glassed-in porches which overlook a breath-taking view from every direction. There is a stable which maintains fine riding horses. There is a pool, in addition to the natural beach. Two other famous Grand Hotels have stood on the spot. One can golf on a magnificent course with natural water hazards to add interest to the game, or board a swift cruiser in the yacht basin for trolling. Guests may engage a fishing class boat for sailing or small craft handling. There is a veritable Utopia for hunters. The rooms are limited to ninety and a restful uncrowded atmosphere prevails for entertaining there is the Lakewood Club (on the hotel grounds) for guests and a limited local membership.

The guest rooms are all separated from the general activity assuring quiet and privacy. The entire building is air-conditioned. The rooms are finished in natural cypress paneling and have a rustic, homey atmosphere. Many of them have a furniture grouping before huge picture windows.

The food is superb and for the first time I saw "himself" leave something on his plate. They actually serve such portions that it is impossible to eat it all. The least expensive room is $12 a day.

One can ride a bicycle over the grounds and if you are lazy and leisurely surreys are available. In addition there is badminton, shuffleboard, croquet, hiking, tennis, canoeing, deep sea fishing. There is the "Sky Lounge," a favorite spot for bridge, chess, and private parties (I beg your pardon, canasta, too). There is "Julep Point," a lounge and shuffle board court, a ladies' dress shop and a men's beach shop, a fishing lodge and a cocktail bar, beauty salon and of course, a barber shop. One does not have to leave the grounds for anything unless they choose to. Some day I'd like to go back during the height of the season. It was a little quiet. Incidentally, if you can get in it is a paradise for a honeymoon.

Mother and daughter is represented in my fan mail this week. A sweet little note from Carol Stevenson Murphy and a most gratifying letter from Odile Stevenson. I'm sure Odile won't mind me printing it in part. She starts off by saying "If you are not the greatest disciple of cheerfulness and lifting of spirits of your fellow beings I know you are the best influence that has happened to this community." She writes further, "You are doing a fine job and I hope you continue it for a long time." Well, thanks, Odile, my dear, thanks. You can't imagine how good that sounds to me, especially when I sit in on some sessions sometime and hear myself ripped to pieces. That's a strange feeling—to hear someone criticize you to your very face and not realize they are speaking straight to you. Your first reaction is to try to defend yourself and then it gets funnier and funnier when you think how red the face would be if you suddenly said, "You know, darling, I am Peggy Foote." But, what balm to my wounded feeling to hear such nice things. At this point may I say that I think you do a beautiful job each month of holding meetings together. You might be little but you certainly command respect and order.

I understand that the bridge tournament given by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Yacht Club was enjoyed by a horde of people. Viola Williams' table for 36 guests was beautiful with 36 bronze and yellow corsages lining the table and a centerpiece of the same blooms. I don't have space to tell all about it, but it did seem as the every one was having a good time. I made a new friend. I love that. I love people. They are the most interesting study on earth. This particular lady looked at me and said, "Who are you? I believe I like you." I was amused but replied "I'm sure I'm going to like you, also," and that started off a new friendship.

I read something about "charm" the other day—now where on earth did I put it? Here it is. It says, "In the ABT of beauty 'C' is for 'charm.' Charm is something even a blind man can sense when he can't even see beauty." That is quite true. It brings to my thought a small girl I know and a blind man. I had occasion to visit in the child's home and one summer evening she invited me to take a walk "to the highway" with her. She was a precious little thing affable, sweet and quite charming for one so young. As we walked along we came to an elderly gentleman sitting on his lawn. His dark glasses denoted his blindness. The little one broke away from me and ran into the yard calling, "good evening, Mr. Cartwright, good evening." The old man smiled sweetly and patted the child's hand and said "you must be a very beautiful child to have such a kindly regard for an old man." She was beautiful, charmingly beautiful and she has had none of it throughout the years. She has grown into one of the loveliest young women I have ever known and I am so proud to take her with me whenever I can. You see—she had charm which was so much more visible to a blind man than beauty. He sensed her beauty through her charm. One can be beautiful without being charming—oh yes—but it is hard to think of one being charming without being beautiful—even tho it may only be an inner beauty.

I once knew a woman who was cross, close, irritable, constantly on the defensive. She could get along with no one and everyone disliked her. Consequently, she had no friends. Her skin was continuously broken out with some sort of rash, adding further to her morbid countenance and disagreeable demeanor. One day she complained of being lonely and her friend said "of course, you're lonely. You have no charm." And then she set about to teach her how she could acquire it. About a year ago I met the woman and I hardly knew her. She was gracious and attractive and one of the first things I noticed was her lovely skin. Even her face had cleared with her disposition. She was almost pretty.

There are many definitions of charm. To my notion a charming woman has a good voice, tact, (oh! please—tact) and understanding; she is not mean, malicious or quarrelsome. She guides a conversation without forcing her opinion on others, is sincerely courteous (especially to the elderly) and pleasant, agreeable and gracious to be with. She never tires you, she never asks personal questions or offers advice unless it is sought. She is natural, considerate, sincere, and cheerful. Many people need to develop charm. (I, amongst them) everyone knows some of these individuals. One is the woman with the winning, rasping voice who never seems to see the good in anything. Then there is the tactless one who is always ready to tell everyone what she thinks, no matter how it hurts. Another far-from-charming person is the one who is guilty of the so-called-to-your-face routine. (and can't you see right through it?) Another is the "chummy" one who calls you by your first name on one occasion and the next day needs an introduction all over again. (And, if you think this has not happened just ask me.) The one who tries to get everyone to agree with her viewpoint is also a litter pill. The one that thinks every remark is directed at her or that every time one laughs it is at her expense is worse. All lack charm. (How many are you guilty of? I'm going to analyze myself as soon as I say Au revoir.)

Develop charm. Don't be guilty of any of these traits if you want to be charming. Of course, if you don't care then go right ahead sitting at home alone, uninvited and unwanted and unpopular. But, if you want to be happy and make others happy then be charming. Do you have a net skirt on your formal that you would like to perk up? To renew the crisp appearance, smooth the skirt over the ironing board. With a sheet of wax paper beneath and above skirt press with a warm iron.

"Who said you were a superwoman? Don't plan your days too full and you'll have a greater feeling of accomplishment at the end of the day"—it says here.

Company drop in on you? Don't mind. Take thin slices of leftover ham with grilled bananas and a cheese sauce. This is good with a quick green salad.

CHEF-RIGOLETS STRETCH OF HIGHWAY 90 TO OPEN

New Orleans—Traffic on US Highway 90 East of New Orleans between Chef Menteur and the Rigolets will be resumed in about two weeks.

A. W. McWhorter, highway department construction engineer, said the section, nearly nine miles long, had been widened by six feet and resurfaced. The cost was $358,239. McWhorter said only the road shoulder was incomplete.

Traffic between the Gulf Coast has been detoured through Slidell, La., since the project began last June. McWhorter said the section probably would be opened during the week which begins November 26.

fault to make a selection. However, Mrs. Ruth Miller of Lakeside won the blue ribbon for an arrangement of zinnias, chrysanthemums and leaves in tones of yellow and red. Interspersed was velvet, crepe myrtle leaves and dusty miller. This was done in a low terra cotta bowl.

First prize for miniatures went to Mrs. J. P. Rousseau, who has added another laurel to her reputation for miniature arrangements.

Mrs. Rousseau chose an old-fashioned, now gay, motif done with zinnias, two pink roses and white sweet alyssum in a saucer. Another worthy of mention was one done by Mrs. Rousseau with red peppers on a silver card tray. Mrs. McCay's tiny china urn holding violets and white berries carried beautiful line for something so small.

In the wild flower class Mrs. Hugh Egerton won first place for an arrangement of cat tails, dried grasses and pods.

The ribbon for potted plants went to Mrs. Alton Landry for a Christmas cactus with double blossoms.

Appointed as assistants to the Pilgrimage chairman were Mrs. J. P. Rousseau, Mrs. C. E. Becker, Mrs. J. P. Rousseau and Mrs. Havard Burleigh. Mrs. H. L. Wesner drew the entrance prize.

The members of the club sincerely regret the loss of Mrs. Hugh Egerton, who will leave shortly to make her residence in Mobile, Ala.

Present were Mrs. Gertrude Robertson, Mrs. Ruth Miller, Mrs. Ray Denms, Mrs. S. O. McCay, Mrs. Ben Peterson, Mrs. A. G. Dantagnan, Mrs. O. Moran, Mrs. Horace Russ, Mrs. Hugh Egerton, Mrs. J. A. Kern, Mrs. Johann Craft, Mrs. Havard Burleigh, Mrs. C. E. Becker, Mrs. Horace Russ, Mrs. Jules Schroth, Mrs. J. W. Hill, Jr., Mrs. Alton Landry, Mrs. J. P. Rousseau, Mrs. H. L. Wesner, Mrs. Abbie Bing, and Mrs. Alice Agreard. Mrs. Marguerite Backman of Bay St. Louis was a guest.

The Christmas party will be held at the next meeting on December 18 at the home of Mrs. Bing. Prizes will then be awarded to those holding the greatest number of ribbons won throughout the year.

Proceeding the meeting of the Blue Jeans Garden Club on Monday, Nov. 20, a tray luncheon was served at the home of Mrs. J. W. Hill, Jr. The guests were Mrs. Gladys Bartlett Jones, Mrs. Marguerite Backman, Mrs. Jules Schroth and Mrs. Ola Moran.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wm. Hill, Jr., will spend Thanksgiving in West Baton Rouge Parish as guests of relatives. Before returning home they will visit Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Reeder and family in Baton Rouge.

FARM BUREAU OFFICERS RETURN TO POSTS

Re-election of all officers for a new year brought to conclusion a three-day convention of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, Boswell Stevens, of Macon, was re-elected president for 1951, along with Alden McNair, of Lumbard and John Taylor of Sunflower, as vice-presidents. Resolutions affecting almost every phase of farm economy were also read by Chairman S. H. Kyle, of Clarksdale and adopted by the group. Continuance of rural electrification, rural roads, rural telephones and other programs was also strongly advocated by the Farm Bureau membership.

Nearly anybody can tell somebody else how to behave.

There were about thirty contributions in all and the dining room of the home was replete with blossoms and fragrance. The artistry amongst the group has improved so that it was very difficult to make a selection.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Gladys Bartlett Jones, owner of the Blue Bottle Studio in Bay St. Louis, who spoke on the usage of color, a trip to a Brunswick, Georgia garden tour and made several suggestions pertaining to civic improvement in line with garden club work. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Hill.

ADAMS' NEW OIL FIELD IS KNOWN AS 'NEW ERA'

There's a "new era" in Adams County and it's all on account of oil. Mississippi's leading oil county last week marked up its sixth new oil field for this year to give it a total of 12.

Since the new discovery is on land that is part of the New Era Plantation owned by George W. Armstrong, the Nomenclature Committee of the Mississippi Geological Society has named the field the "New Era" oil field.
